The Lacombe-Wetaskiwin Hockey Match

Great excitement prevailed among the sporting element of town on Monday last, when it was learned that the Lacombe hockey team was coming up on a special train that evening to play the third game in the league series, after repeated and forceful requests not to come, as some of the Wetaskiwin players had been injured in practice. But notwithstanding this Lacombeites were determined to force the game and took advantage of the maimed condition of the home skip.

The game was called off 5 o'clock, but owing to the special train conveyance some 150 of Lacombe's tin horn sports and Henry Trimble's hockey pets, having a train down they did not arrive until after 10 o'clock and then marched to the rink and demand ed a game, which if not played then would be claimed by default.

Accordingly the Wetaskiwin team, sportsman like, maimed and all as they were, lined up against their rivals at 11 o'clock in the evening.

The game was fast from the first, but the home boys had little hope of defeating the Lacombe professionals. In the first half three goals were scored by Lacombe and in the last half four more were added to the number. The line up of the teams was as follows:

LACOMBE
Watson
Flummefelt
Chalk
Johnson
Rainforth
Williams
Breen
Hearst
McDonald
Sharp
Aymer
Murphy
Temple

WETASKIWIN

Referee—R. A. Robertson, of Edmonton.

Ever since the league was organized, the president and secretary, who are citizens of Lacombe and Red Deer respectively, have worked hand in hand to prevent the Wetaskiwin team from winning the trophy. Last year in the finals the Wetaskiwin team played under protest against a picket from Didsbury and Olds, but was defeated.

At the executive meeting the protest was upheld and Wetaskiwin was declared the champion of the league, but the cup was not forthcoming. This coveted trophy was taken home by the Didsbury Olds team, without giving a bond or any guarantee and has since been held by them. A few weeks ago when Wetaskiwin demanded her rights, a decree was sent forth by the powers that Wetaskiwin would have to put up a $100 bond. This clause was added presumably because the cup was going to Wetaskiwin.

This year, however, the cheap sports of Lacombe were determined to take the trophy by either fair means or foul and accordingly imported at least four professional players, who have done nothing since the season began.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1901.

Ernest Cashel Pays the Death Penalty

Calgary, Feb. 2.—Ernest Cashel was hanged at the police barracks this morning. The drop fell at 8:06 o'clock. Cashel must have been dead at that minute or a second later, for the performance from the hangman's point of view was a complete success.

Cashel confessed to the crime yesterday morning. Rev. G. W. Kerby notified him of his intention of asking him a direct question this morning. He said: "Ernest, are you guilty?" "Yes," said Cashel, and broke down.

When he came out he was game and ascended the scaffold with less indifference but with quite as much nerve as he went to trial, as he received his sentence, and as he escaped from the police barracks. There was just a small audience present.

Rev. Mr. Kerby was with Cashel from an early hour this morning. Cashel is reported to have passed a fairly good night. It was at 7:50 that the execution proceedings began. First Radcliffe came in and pinioned Cashel's arms. Cashel flinched a bit at this but did not collapse.

The procession was formed, led by the condemned man and Rev. Mr. Kerby. As they arrived on the scaffold, Cashel asked Mr. Kerby to pray with him, which he did. Then Radcliffe put on the white cap, and adjusted the knot. Rev. Mr. Kerby began the Lord's prayer, and as he reached the "Deliver us from evil," the bolt shot out and Cashel was launched into eternity. Death was instantaneous.

It was a bleak cold morning on which Cashel went to his death.

A cold chill wind was blowing from the north and swept across the barracks camp. Gloomy as the barracks are at all times, it never seemed more grim and forbidding than this morning. The sun was slow to shine and there was not the faintest appearance of a sunbeam to relieve the grimness of the scene. There were a few curious people who stopped outside anxious to get a look to see anything that could be seen, but they saw nothing of the tragedy.

The Value of Pedigree

Breeders of live stock talk freely of the good pedigrees possessed by their animals but a great many of them do not realize what the term really means. What is a good pedigree? This question was answered very fully by Mr. F. W. Hodson, Livestock Commissioner, in his evidence before the Committee of Agriculture and Colonization during the recent session of Parliament. For a pedigree to be really good, and a sire impressive the ancestors should be alike in type, quality and breeding for several generations—the more the better. There is a great necessity for breeders to observe uniformity in the type of animals they select as sires. The more uniformity there is in all his ancestors both in breeding and quality, the more impressive a sire will be. The successful breeder of live stock pays a great deal of attention to this feature—he cannot be successful unless he does. We frequently see an animal of excellent appearance that has been got by a good sire but out a very indifferent dam. Many of this sort are kept for sires in this country to the great detriment of the live stock industry. What we greatly need is line breeding. The animals included in a pedigree should be of the same breeding quality.

Possibly Your Wife

Doesn't look so young and pretty as she used to. If her cheeks are hollow and pale, if she is thin and nervous the first thing to do is to get her pasturing the bloom of health to sickly girls and women. Complexion quickly becomes rosy, spirits up, and strength increases daily. Health and vigor will soon return to your wife if Fertilose is taken. It costs but little made, and costs 50¢ for strength.

and style. If an animal has had a bad sire or a bad grand sire, or dam or grand dam, the peculiarities of these will crop out in the offspring, because the sire is only one of many in a pedigree and has only the influence of one, while again his is the influence of each of the animals in his ancestry all tending toward variation. It is often better to choose a somewhat inferior animal of good breeding, because in each case there is the influence of one animal against the whole ancestry and each individual animal in that ancestry.

It will not do to confound a long pedigree with a good pedigree. Many animals with long pedigrees are useless for improving the quality of our stock. Why? Because their ancestors have not been of uniformly good quality nor have they been of the same type. Many of the purchased animals imported into Canada are of poor quality and not bred to type; others have good appearance, but their offspring is inferior because their ancestors have been irregular in quality and breeding. If a man wished to shew a herd of good cattle or a stable of good cattle or a stable of good horses he must have them of uniform type and in order to get them so he must study and practice line breeding as far as type and quality go. It is in breeding all classes of animals.

The advantage of adhering closely to type, and culling out all animals that do not come up to the standard is well illustrated in the case of the British sheep breeders.

Their flocks are large and good and exceedingly well managed.

The greatest care is exercised in regard to quality, but even the breeding males.

The ewe flock is of uniform quality, but even the British farmer could improve his methods by paying more attention to the ancestors of the ram he buys. The quality of those he now uses is good, but he does not always take the trouble to make sure that their dams or grand dams were equally good.

This is a very important feature.

The usual custom with the sheep farmer is to go carelessly over his flock to see how it is doing.

It prevents any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia.

Buyers are usually allowed to select sheep from the breeding flock of any of the well established breeders.

The best cold is for breeding purposes, and the third grade goes to the butcher. This careful selection and grading are what have been established and maintained the supremacy of the English flocks.

British farmers are not breeding any better sheep than Canadians could produce, if we were to devote the same attention to the industry.

In Britain selection of breeding stock has been so thoroughly carried on for generations that their sheep are highly appreciated in all parts of the world.

They are bought by all countries for use in improving the native stock. In Canada we call on a very different principal.

Many of our best flocks are anally culled by the Americans, who buy the best to improve their flocks and leave to our breeders

the second and third class animals.

This is a very great mistake.

A Pretty Church Wedding

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Swedish Lutheran church on Thursday, at eleven o'clock, when Rev. D. Hanna and Miss Beatrice C. Roma were united in the holy bonds of wedlock. The bride was supported by her sister, Miss Olga, while L. D. Montgomery performed the same ceremony for the groom. The bride looked charming in a beautiful cream satin, trimmed with white chiffon and pearl garniture, while the bridesmaid was prettily attired in cream colored cashmere, trimmed with applique and satins. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. G. Austin, pastor of the Church of England, in the presence of a large number of invited guests. After the ceremony a bountiful wedding breakfast was served at the residence of the bride's parents, Lansdowne Street. The happy couple were the recipients of a large number of beautiful presents. Mr. and Mrs. Hanna left for Edmonton on the evening train accompanied by the best wishes of a large host of friends.
